90.6

Strong

core 74.3 adjusted 68.9 bonus +21.65 (c11 6.25, c14 7, c15 8.4)

Core 74.3 -> adjusted 68.9 (star, gamma 1.25); total = clamp(adjusted + bonus, 0, 100) = clamp(68.9 + 21.65, 0, 100) = 90.6

Read this score as a hypothesis.

This score is a hypothesis about how this CV will land with this employer, not a decision about whether to apply.

A low score is not a reason to hold the CV back: send it and learn from the outcome. A high score is not a guarantee of a call back, an interview or feedback: send it and treat the outcome as evidence in the same way.

A strong referral to the hiring manager overrides this score completely.

Application form questions that often reject within a day

- Salary expectation: state a figure inside the advertised band
- Notice period: state it exactly as your contract says
- Right to work: answer the question for the country of the role
- Current job title: enter the title on your CV, not an informal one
- Yes or no experience questions: answer from the JD requirements, since the CV cannot

This section scores how pedigree is likely to be perceived. It is not a measure of merit.

Strengths

- Same title, same industry and a direct competitor employer, so the current role is a very close match (c1).
- Holds the required PMP and the desirable Green Belt (c10).
- Salesforce and ServiceNow experience well beyond the years asked (c3).
- Several full situation-action-result bullets with numbers (c8).

Risks

- No Snowflake experience shown on the CV (c3).
- Only one AI use is quantified, so AI evidence is moderate (c4).
- Four spelling and grammar slips in a CV for a senior role (c6, c7).
- Several bullets describe duties with no result (c8) and some phrasing reads as stock AI wording (c5).

Actions

- Fix the two spelling errors and two grammar errors before applying (c6, c7).
- Add a result to the duty bullets, or cut them (c8).
- Add Snowflake or similar warehouse experience if true, for example via the Power BI reporting (c3).
- Quantify the fraud-alert and Copilot outcomes (c4).
- Replace "spearheaded" and "leveraged" phrasing with specifics (c5).

Package and location

- Posted: not stated
- Estimated band: £95,000 - £120,000 per year (midpoint £107,500); London premium 20%
- Location: London; Hybrid; 3 office days per week; The job description says hybrid but gives no number of days; three is assumed from the employer's advertised roles.
- Employer location strategy: Acme Corp has announced regional hubs and plans to hire operations roles there, so pay for this role may drift towards the lower UK-excluding-London level over time.
- Contract effects: The role is permanent, so no contract-basis adjustment applies.
